Dr. Thomas L. Sydnor has been elected superintendent of the Union Hill Chapel Sunday school, and Mr. J. W. Ellyson superintendent of the Christian Sunday school, both in place of the late R. M. Tuck.

Rev. Dr. Goodwin returned yesterday from Scottsburg, at which place he deliv-ered the dedication sermon, on Sunday, of the Musterfield-Scottsburg Baptist church.

Captain William E. Clark, of Ringgold Captain William E. Clark, of Ringgold, this county, who was bitten last spring, as he supposes, by a puppy which was under the influence of hydropoobia, says that he used the Pointer mail-stone the larger part of three days, at the end of which time it ceased to draw. This stone is now in the third generation of the Pointers, and was given as a return for hospitality to Major Pointer, of time long ago, by a stranger, who said he obtained it in India. At one time it was sold at auction for 3650. This stranger had with him in a neat box another stone like the Pointer stone, and when next heard from he had it in one of the western States. They were about as large as the first half of the thumb, shaped like a smake's head, and black. The Pointer stone has since been broken.

large as the first hair of the thumb, shaped like a snake's head, and black. The Pointer stone has since been broken.

About the time that Captain Clark was bitten one of his dogs exhibited signs of madness in snapping and dashing at everything near it at times, tore the clothes of several people, and ran off. A short time afterwards one of his sons, a boy of about sixteen, found the dog, and, not aware of the danger he was in, had him by the collar and was trying to get him to the house. The Captain, in the greatest alarm, quickly got a chain which had a spring to it, caught it in the collar, and fixed it to a feare. He had hardly taken his son away before a fit came upon the dog, and its ravings were terrible to behold. He put a pen around the dog to be sure there was no mistake, and afterwards had him killed. About the same time one of the Captain's cows ran mad. She was missed from his pen in the evening, was heard bellowing furiously during the night, and it the morning was found dead at a pool of water, near which were signs that she had been near which were signs that she had been pawing and tearing the ground. MEDICAL COLLEGE OF VIRGINIA,

The Blue Ridge has among its rights.

The Blue Ridge has among its visitors a larger number of young gentleman than young ladies, which is doubtless attributable to its preximity to the flourishing city of Rozancke. This state of affairs contributes no little to the pleasures of the young ladies and to the gaiety of the place. on Saturday night last the young ladies gave a leap-year german. The costumes were elegant, the facors beautiful, and the whole affair in every respect a complete success.

Your correspondent cannot attempt to Your correspondent cannot attempt to give a detailed description of all the toilets, or to indicate especially who of the many attractive ladies present bore off the palm of beauty, but as viewed through his spectacles he can but admit that Miss Louise Alian, of your city, stood first and foremost among those whose beauty of person and attraction of manners rendered them especially the belies of the occasion. She was dressed in black point-lace, with dismond ornaments.

Miss Kelly, of New Orleans, was becomingly attired in pink slik and lace trimmings, and her sister, equally attractive, were white satin and pearl ornaments.

Miss Annie Williams, of Richmond, looked charming in Nile-green slik and old-lace flounces. Miss Nellie Lottier, who is universally popular, was attired in bine slik entraine. Miss Suste Walker, also of your city, was dressed in white muslin, and was one of the most graceful dancers upon the floor. Miss Grusener, of Memphis, wore white lace and very handsome diamonds. Hesides the above there were numerous others whore presence added very much to the pleasure of the occasion, but whose costumes your correspondent cannot now recall, feeling that for a lone, lorn backelor" he has accomplished wonders in remembering the above.

In return for this entertainment the gentlement of the springs have decided to tender the young ladies on Thursday night next a handsome german.

A committee, consisting of Mr. E. H. Leche, of New Orleans; Mr. Lawrence Lottier, of Richmond; Mr. B. B. Munford, of Pittsylvania, and Mr. R. L. Hardy, of Norfolk, has been appointed to make all tecessary arrangements. The Lavors will be coally and numerous. An elegant collation will be served, and a large company is expected.

While of course gaiety is the order of the day, yet on Sunday the sound of the band is hushed, and the ball-room is temporarily converted into a chapel, and the Rev. D. M. At 3 o'clock this morning another mob made an advance on the Albemaric jail, presumably to lynch the murderer Roland. The authorities being on the alert, however, the starm was given and the piot frustrated. It is said that about one hundred men congregated near the Chesapoake and Oh.5 round-house, from which point they advanced upon the jail, but before they reached the court-house the bell sounded the alarm. Had they attacked the [Correspondence of the Richmond Dispe

PETERSBURG AND VICINITY.

The pinners and Mechanics Bank—The matter before them was the Planters and Mechanics Rank. A number of witnesses were examined, and it is understood that all the evidence in the case is now in. This is the tenth day of the grand jury sitting. The jury asked to, be adjourned over until Thursday morning at 10 o'clock, when they will be ready to make their report. It is understood that the attorney for the Commonwealth is preparing bills of presentment at the request of the grand jury. The public are awaiting with the deepest interest the action of the death of Judge R. C. Shell. The names of several well-known legal gentlemen of the county are mentioned in connection with the office, and their friends are urging their respective colonies, and their friends are urging their respective chaims.

It is not improbable that the question will arise in count at an early day involving the county. Caused by the death of Judge R. C. Shell. The mames of several will

It is not improbable that the question will arise in court at an early day involving the validity of the assignment made by the directors of the Planters and Mechanics Bank.

They could not, however, summon the courage to face the opposition that a vigorous policy would certainly awaken, and so they endeavored to turn the attention of the public away from the subject by directing all their energies to the suppression of another out of evil and the arrest of thirty-one women, none of whom, it is to be presumed, had much money or any political inducence.

whom, it is to be presumed, had much money or any political influence.

A person whose sympathies and affiliations are with the gambiers informs a Times correspondent that the keeper of the chief place is constantly the victim of "squeezes," and that his immunity from the rigers of the law is largely to be ascribed, apart from his political influence, to the fact that he pays generous tribute. As long as these conditions exist it is declared there is no likelihood that the gamblers would be disturbed if a deo were erected in front of every church at the Branch. That the "tribute" may easily be made generous may be inferred from the fact that the profits of Daily's Pennsylvania Club amounted last season to more than $50,000. The gains this summer will not be so large, owing to the backwardness of the season and the fact that the recent disasters in Wall street have left the New York speculators, who form a large part of Daily's patrons, with less money to squender than formerly. All the same, the business considered in itself is large. Last night the house was full of players, as it generally is on Saturday and Sunday nights during the season, and the play was constant.

seemed to realize what had happened, and that he was still alive, an expression of wonder and astonishment could plainly be seen upon his little face. Carefully he was laid upon a mound of clean straw in his eage. He tried to walk about with the leg which was not tiere. Then he smelled of the bandage and rolled about a bir, finally curling up and going to sleep as if perfectly satisfied. He seemed to know that was had been done was for the best, and he looked through the bars at the Doctor with a grateful expression on his face. In six weeks from now he will be as lively and as interesting as ever, and will scarcely miss his lost member. The Doctor certainly performed an extremely delicate operation, and one which has never been done before in this country. It must certainly be a in this country. It must certainly be a satisfaction to the lovers of animals to know that dumb creatures can be as safely operated upon as human beings. A Mountain-Climber's Fall.

On Tuesday last the news of the terrible death of Fred. P. Brown, one of the first prospectors and miners of Sheep Mountain, was brought to town by Fred. Johnson and Harry Cornwall. That morning Mr. Brown had started up the mountain to assist Mr. Cornwall in surveying the Homestake No. 2. This claim is situated on the most dangerous portion of Sheep Mountain. It lies across a deep gorge, the sides of which are almost perpendicular, and in some places inaccessfule. They were going to the upper end of the claim to locate the discovery shaft and were climbing the western side of the gorge, Fred, being about fifty feet in advance, when suddenly he seemed to double up and fell backwards. He rolled for several feet and then bounced into the air, passing Mr. Cornwall, who endeavored to catch him but only touched his clothing, like a shot, striking the sides of the gorge twice, and finally striking on his head and shoulders on the rocks nearly five hundred feet below, smashing his skull so that the brains oozed out, and terribly disfiguring his face, while it seemed as though there was not a whole bone in his body.

Mr. Brown must have been taken with a sudden dizziness, to which he was subject, as he was a fearless mountain-ellimber. (Gothic Sliver Record.)

The home team was placed at the bat first, when "play" was called at 5 o'clook.

Matthews and Milligan formed the Athlettes', and the Dugan brothers the Virginias' battery. The game progressed very evenly for the first two innings, both side being blanked in the first, and the visitors scoring one in the second. Great enthusiasm pervaded the crowd, and everybody looked with cager, longing eves to see our locked with eager, longing eyes to see our boys come to the front, but they could not boys come to the front, but they could not come.

The visitors continued to pile up their numbers until in the eighth uning, their last, they reached fourteen, while the home team could never send a man over the plate, and only one or two got to third base. The visitors batted bugan worse than he has been batted this season, making fourteen hits on him, but this, not so much as the number of ugiv errors, gave the visitors the game—they only making one earned run. The home team was entirely unable to "catch on" to Matthews, only for five scattering singles, which yielded them nothing.

The outfielding for the home team was good; but, like the last game with the Allentowns, the infielders were "all off." Morgan played second base in a very unsatisfactory manner, having made three errors, which lost as many or more than so many runs.

Except the two errors made by Honek (short-shop), and the one by Matthews (pitcher), the playing of the visitors was perfect. The crowd, at several points during the game, expressed great dissatisfaction at the umpire's decisions; but they were all apparently just and fair. The came resulted in a score of 14 to 0 in favor of the Athletics. Below is the detailed
